John W. Brown, organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, assailed John D. Rockefeller, and was heartly applauded. He said:
"The government of this country is at present at No. 26 Broadway. But a protest from the depths never reaches that powerful source.
"To-day there is but one solution of the problem, and that is for the government to take over the mines in Colorado. I have come 2,000 miles to hear this message."

"One man alone (Mr. Rockefeller), by a single word, could have stopped all the bloodshed of the Colorado strike. Unionism does not wish to kill Mr. Rockefeller, but the union men all over this country do wish to kill the vast power which the Rockefellers have."

Senator James Martine, of New Jersey, came from Washington to express his sympathics toward the movement and to reaffirm his conviction in the good to be derived from Federal ownership of public corporations.

Coples of the resolutions were ordered sent to President Wilson and all members of Congress.

Havorian Minister Opposes Nonsectarian Religious Teaching.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Berlin, July 17.—The Bavarian minister of education announces that nonsectarian religious teaching will not be tolerated hereafter in the Bavarian schools. The minister declares it has been found that such instruction leads to implety, and is opposed to the moral basis upon which the State is founded. The edict followed earnest agitation by the Catholics against this system of religious instruction in the schools.

Full weight is given to the state of mind to which Mme. Califlaux was reduced by the violent campaign of Figaro against her husband.

"It can be understood," writes Jules Herbaux, procurator-general, "that the accused, who loves her husband, was deeply wounded by the attacks of which he was the subject."

After the publication of the "Thy Joe" letter, the indictment continues, Mme. Califlaux seemed haunted by the far that the other two letters of which the editor of Figaro knew would be published. The document concludes:

Abram H. Preeman, Chicago, and Frederick L. Wendler, St. Louis, to-day were sentenced to eight years imprisonment each, and fined $33,000 each in Federal Court.

Among the other defendants and the penalties imposed were:

Joseph T. Stevens, Kansas City, and Robert B. Fender, each three years and a fine of $2,500.

The government charged that more than $1,000,000 was obtained by convincing creditors of bankrupts that their accounts would be collected by the agency from "concealed assets" of the hankrupts. The government contended that after receiving fees from many States for collecting such accounts, the agency made no efforts to serve its clients.

The defendants were admitted to ball pending motion on their appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.
